

JUBILEE PARK CORE

This central area is currently a 'blank canvas', with a few drainage ditches, footpaths and pylons across the eastern corner.

The space will provide the majority of formal provision for the park, with a major play area, a multi-use building for community and sport with a café, grass and surfaced pitches, on-site parking, and space for events. This is designed within a framework of planting, to filter views of the built elements and anchor them within the landscape.

The aim is to create high quality facilities for all ages and abilities, catering for a diverse range of interests, which is accessible to the existing and new communities.

The space is bookended by Jubilee Park north and south, and provides the more formal recreational opportunities to complement the informal nature of the rest of the park. Tree planting, hedgerow, wetland features and wide-surfaced paths are provided, providing a golden thread of landscape features throughout Jubilee Park.
